Coping with stress during COVID-19

Feeling sad, stressed, confused, scared or angry during a crisis is normal. Talking to people you trust can help. Talk to your colleagues and contact friends and family.

When on board, maintain a healthy lifestyle - including proper diet, sleep, exercise and social contacts with other crew members and by email, social media and phone for family and friends.

Don't use smoking, alcohol or other drugs to manage emotions. When overwhelmed, talk to a colleague or contact SeafarerHelp. Have a plan, where to go to and how to seek help for physical and mental health needs if required.

Get the facts. Gather information to accurately determine risks and take reasonable precautions. Use a trusted credible source such as WHO or government agency website.

Reduce time spent watching, reading or listening to upsetting media coverage to limit worry and agitation.

Draw on past skills which helped you manage previous difficult situations to help handle your emotions at this time.

Contact SeafarerHelp, the free, confidential, multilingual 24 hour helpline for seafarers and their families, open 365 days a year for advice if necessary.
